Across Award – Special Section within the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize

In implementation of the ACROSS Grant Agreement, which expressly foresees the establishment of an “Across Award” within the Alliance, the Across Award originates from the shared commitment of the partner universities of the ACROSS Alliance to give visibility and recognition to actions, initiatives and research paths that actively contribute to the promotion of inclusion, equal opportunities and the prevention and combating of discrimination. In this perspective, the Award is conceived as a common space in which the values underpinning the Alliance find concrete expression through academic work attentive to social justice, diversity and human dignity.

The initiative is launched in collaboration with the ACROSS Alliance, a transnational partnership bringing together the following universities: Chemnitz University of Technology, University of Ruse, University of Craiova, Bialystok University of Technology, University of Nova Gorica, University of Girona, University of Perpignan Via Domitia, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv and University of Banja Luka (<https://www.across-alliance.eu>).

Within the framework of the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize, the University of Udine hereby introduces a dedicated section entitled Across Award.

By being embedded within the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize, the Across Award places itself in continuity with a well-established academic tradition devoted to the advancement of equality, inclusion and the culture of non-discrimination. At the same time, it broadens this legacy to a transnational dimension, reflecting the shared responsibility of European universities to foster inclusive academic environments and to support research addressing some of the most pressing challenges faced by contemporary societies.

1. Purpose of the Award

The Across Award aims to recognise and reward outstanding Bachelor's or Master's theses discussing topics connected to the themes of the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize, including but not limited to:

- gender equality;
- gender-based violence;
- non-discrimination in education or the workplace;
- diversity and inclusion;

- protection of vulnerable individuals and groups;
- equal opportunities policies.

The Award seeks to promote awareness, academic research and critical reflection on these issues among the students of the universities belonging to the Across Alliance.

2. Eligibility

This section is open to all students enrolled in any of the universities participating in the Across Alliance, who have defended a Bachelor's or Master's thesis on the topics listed above.

Eligible theses must have been defended during the 2024/2025 academic year, including theses defended up to 31 October 2025.

3. Submission Requirements

Applicants shall submit:

- A digital copy of the Bachelor's or Master's thesis.
- An abstract in English (max. 2,000 characters), outlining the main objectives, methodology and findings.
- A certificate issued by the home university confirming the date of the thesis defence and the degree awarded.
- A short CV (max. 2 pages).
- copy of valid identity document

All documents must be submitted in PDF format.

4. Evaluation

Theses shall be assessed by a Selection Committee established within the ACROSS Alliance and formally appointed by Rectoral Decree, in continuity with the governance framework of the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize, and composed of members proposed and nominated by Task 1.4, from among academics and/or experts affiliated with ACROSS Alliance partner institutions, on the basis of their recognized academic or professional expertise in the fields of gender equality, diversity and non-discrimination. In appointing the Committee, due regard shall be given to the subject matters of the theses submitted, as well as to an appropriate balance of disciplinary backgrounds and institutional representation within the Alliance.

In evaluating the thesis, evaluation criteria shall include:

- relevance to the themes of the Prize (0-10 points). Assessment of the degree to which the thesis addresses issues central to gender equality, non-discrimination, diversity, inclusion or the protection of vulnerable individuals;
- quality and originality of the research (0-10 points). Evaluation of the scientific contribution, innovative aspects, critical insights, and the ability to advance knowledge in the field;
- clarity of argument and methodological soundness (0-10 points). Consideration of the coherence and structure of the thesis, the appropriateness and rigour of the methodology adopted, and the consistency between research questions, analysis, and conclusions;
- potential impact and contribution to the academic debate on gender equality and inclusion (0-10 points). Assessment of the relevance, applicability, and broader significance of the findings for academic, institutional, or societal contexts.

Maximum score: 40 points

Minimum score required for the eligibility of the Award: 28 points.

The Award shall be granted to the thesis achieving the highest overall score among all evaluated applications, provided that it attains a minimum score of 28 out of 40 points.

5. Prize

The Across Award consists of a monetary prize of €1,000, gross of taxes in accordance with the legislation in force in Italy

The winner will be formally recognised during the official ceremony of the Silvia Gobbato Memorial Prize.
