The Examining Board will proceed to the evaluation of the qualification obtained abroad according to the documentation attached to the application form. The Examining Board may exclude the candidate if the submitted documentation does not provide sufficient information for the assessment. Therefore, applicants must enclose all the documentation in their possession relating to their qualification in order to provide the Examining Board with sufficient information for assessment.

Valutazione dell'uso di SINEUP come strategia innovativa per il trattamento della malattia di Lafora.

Text in English:
Assessing the use of SINEUPs as an innovative strategy for the treatment of Lafora disease.

Obiettivi previsti e risultati attesi del programma di ricerca in cui si colloca l'attività dell'assegnista di ricerca / Foreseen objectives and results of the research programme performed by the research fellow “assegnista di ricerca”:

Testo in italiano:
La malattia di Lafora (LD) è una forma autosomica recessiva fatale di epilessia mioclonica progressiva che colpisce gli adolescenti e per la quale non esistono terapie curative. Alterazioni in EPM2A (6q24) o EPM2B (6p22.3) causano la LD. La neurodegenerazione e le manifestazioni cliniche sono determinate dall'accumulo di aggregati di poliglucosano (corpi di Lafora-LB).
L'alfa-amilasi pancreatica, codificata dai geni AMY2A/AMY2B nell'uomo, è espressa anche nei neuroni, oltre che nella pelle, nel muscolo scheletrico, nella saliva e ovviamente nel pancreas. Recentemente, Gentry et al. hanno dimostrato che l'alfa-amilasi pancreatica è l'unico enzima in grado di degradare i LB nelle cellule neuronal e negli astrocyti e di ripristinare le normali funzioni neurologiche.
È stata recentemente identificata una nuova classe funzionale di RNA antisenso naturali (lncRNA) che aumentano la traduzione di mRNA target, noti come SINEUP. Se prodotti sinteticamente, i SINEUP possono potenzialmente colpire qualsiasi mRNA di interesse aumentando la traduzione e quindi il livello endogeno della proteina codificata, fungendo potenzialmente da farmaco biologico.
Obiettivo di questo studio è sviluppare un nuovo “farmaco molecolare” basato sull’utilizzo di SINEUPs, in grado di degradare gli aggregati di poliglucosano, regolando la traduzione endogena dell’alfa-amilasi pancreatica nelle cellule del sistema nervoso centrale.
L’attività sarà effettuata utilizzando modelli sperimentali in vitro, in particolare colture cellulari primarie derivate da paziente con sindrome di Lafora.
Il progetto si articolera nelle seguenti fasi:
1. Generazione della sequenza di uno o più SINEUPs, in grado di incrementare la traduzione dell’mRNA di alfa-amilasi pancreatica.
Lafora disease (LD) is an autosomal recessive fatal form of progressive myoclonic epilepsy that affects adolescents and for which there are no curative therapies. Alterations in EPM2A (6q24) or EPM2B (6p22.3) cause LD. Neurodegeneration and clinical manifestations are determined by the accumulation of polyglucosan aggregates (Lafora-LB bodies). Pancreatic alpha-amylase, encoded by the AMY2A/AMY2B genes in humans, is also expressed in neurons, as well as in skin, skeletal muscle, saliva and, of course, the pancreas. Recently, Gentry et al. showed that pancreatic alpha-amylase is the only enzyme that can degrade LBs in neuronal cells and astrocytes and restore normal neurological function. A new functional class of natural antisense RNAs (lncRNAs) that enhance translation of target mRNAs, known as SINEUPs, has recently been identified. When produced synthetically, SINEUPs can potentially target any mRNA of interest by increasing translation and thus the endogenous level of the encoded protein, potentially serving as a biological drug.

The objective of this study is to develop a new "molecular drug" based on the use of SINEUPs, which can degrade polyglucosan aggregates by regulating endogenous translation of pancreatic alpha amylase in CNS cells.

The expected results will have a great impact on the scientific community. The results of this project are directly applicable to in vivo administration. Indeed, if experiments identify an effective SINEUP construct, it can be inserted into an adeno-associated virus 9 (AVV9) vector ready for testing in a mouse model of disease. The design and generation of SINEUPs targeting pancreatic alpha-amylase represents a breakthrough in the treatment of LD and will provide a tool that can be shared by researchers working on neurodegenerative diseases in which crossing the blood-brain barrier is a problem.
