Testo in italiano:
Per gli studi mediolatini il bollettino bibliografico «Medioevo Latino» è diventato uno strumento imprescindibile per qualsiasi indagine, filologica, storica, critico-letteraria. Difatti «Medioevo Latino» costituisce il principale strumento bibliografico complessivo nell’ambito della medievistica mondiale, e fra gli altri quello maggiormente dettagliato. La banca-dati è attualmente costituita dalla bibliografia dei numeri 1-41 del repertorio, raccoglie circa 445.000 records, opportunamente corretti e verificati a livello redazionale. Le schede sono costituite da una sintesi del contenuto, con opportune indicizzazioni che consentono una ricerca trasversale: i rimandi sono principalmente: autori, luoghi, studi, Fortleben, manoscritti. Il contenitore previsto per la disseminazione dei risultati è il repertorio «Medioevo latino», che da oltre quarant’anni costituisce la base bibliografica internazionale per qualsiasi ricerca sulla letteratura e cultura medievale. I dati prodotti dalla ricerca del PRIN 2020 saranno resi disponibili in open-access nella banca-dati del repertorio, attualmente ospitata all’interno del sito «Mirabile»; alla banca-dati si affiancherà la pubblicazione cartacea nella forma tradizionale di bollettino bibliografico annuale.

Obiettivi. Il progetto PRIN 2020 The Latin Middle Ages. A comprehensive bibliographic repertory of writers, texts and manuscripts si propone: 1) di raccogliere e censure tutte le informazioni relative alla letteratura e alla cultura latina fra il VI e il XV secolo apparse in qualsiasi sede scientifica nell’arco temporale previsto per la ricerca; 2) di organizzare tali informazioni in forma di schede ragionate, secondo uno standard ormai consolidato e riconosciuto dalla comunità scientifica internazionale, all’interno delle quali vengono fornite non solo le necessarie indicazioni bibliografiche, ma anche sintesi del contenuto dei lavori censiti; 3) di raccogliere tali schede all’interno della banca-dati «Medioevo Latino», che viene in questo modo aggiornata e implementata. I dati così pubblicati saranno resi disponibili in open-access. Le schede sono tutte esaminate e verificate; si passa poi al controllo e all’uniformazione redazionale, che permette a ciascun oggetto bibliografico di essere ospitato in un’unica scheda completa e formalmente corretta in ogni sua parte; si procede infine alla predisposizione degli indici e dei rimandi interni. Il data-base viene costantemente aggiornato per mezzo di precise procedure informatiche tese a tutelare l'integrità e la correttezza degli archivi.

I risultati aspettati dal programma di ricerca dell'assegnista selezionato sono i seguenti.

Realizzare schede bibliografiche relative alle pubblicazioni sulla letteratura e cultura latina medievale apparse nell'anno dell'assegno di ricerca; organizzare tali informazioni secondo lo standard ormai consolidato dal progetto e inserire tali dati all'interno della banca dati «Medioevo Latino». L'assegnista vincitore del bando si occuperà in particolare dello spoglio di pubblicazioni a carattere filologico, critico testuale, esegetico e della letteratura dell'alto Medioevo.

L'assegnista selezionato dovrà dimostrare:
- di avere conoscenze della letteratura latina medievale;
- di avere le competenze necessarie per trattare la bibliografia sul Medioevo;
- di conoscere i repertori di pertinenza necessari alla corretta catalogazione dei dati in «Medioevo Latino»;
- di avere conoscenza della lingua inglese che consenta di poter affrontare la bibliografia redatta in quella lingua;
- di avere le competenze ed esperienze informatiche per l'inserimento e la correzione dei dati.

Text in English:

For studies in the Middle Ages, the "Medioevo Latino" bibliographic bulletin has become an indispensable tool for any philological, historical, critical-literary investigation. In fact, "Medioevo Latino" is the main bibliographic tool in the world of medieval studies, and among others the most detailed.

The database is currently made up of the bibliography of numbers 1-41 of the repertoire, collects about 445,000 records, appropriately corrected and verified at editorial level. The cards are made up of a summary of the content, with appropriate indexing that allow a transversal search: the references are mainly: authors, places, scholars, Fortleben, manuscripts. The container provided for the dissemination of the results is the "Latin Middle Ages" repertoire, which for over forty years has been the international bibliographic basis for any research on medieval literature and culture. The data produced by the PRIN 2020 research will be made available in open-access in the repertoire database, currently hosted within the "Mirabile" site; the database will be accompanied by paper publication in the traditional form of an annual bibliographic bulletin.

Targets. The PRIN 2020 The Latin Middle Ages project. A comprehensive bibliographic repertory of writers, texts and manuscripts aims: 1) to collect and record all information relating to literature and Latin culture between the sixth and fifteenth centuries that appeared in any scientific site in the time frame provided for the research; 2) to organize this information in the form of reasoned cards, according to a standard now consolidated and recognized by the international scientific community, within which not only the necessary bibliographic information is provided, but also a summary of the content of the registered works; 3) to collect these cards within the "Medioevo Latino" database, which is thus updated and implemented. The data published in this way will be made available in open access. The cards are all examined and verified; then there is the control and editorial uniformity, which allows each bibliographic object to be hosted in a single complete and formally correct file in all its parts; finally, the indices and internal references are prepared. The database is constantly updated by means of precise IT procedures aimed at protecting the integrity and correctness of the archives.

The expected results from the research program of the selected fellow are the following.

Create bibliographic records relating to publications on medieval Latin literature and culture that appeared in the year of the grant; organize this information according to the standard now consolidated by the project and insert this data into the "Medioevo Latino" database. The winner of the competition will deal in particular with the examination of publications of a philological, textual, exegetical and literature character of the early Middle Ages.

The selected research fellow must demonstrate:
- to have knowledge of medieval Latin literature;
- to have the necessary skills to deal with the bibliography on the Middle Ages;
- to know the relevant repertoires necessary for the correct cataloging of data in the «Latin Middle Ages»;
- to have knowledge of the English language that allows to be able to deal with the bibliography written in that language;
- to have the IT skills and experience for data entry and correction.
