Obiettivi previsti e risultati attesi del programma di ricerca in cui si colloca l’attività dell’assegnista di ricerca / Foreseen objectives and results of the research programme performed by the research fellow “assegnista di ricerca”:

1. condurre un’analisi approfondita della letteratura esistente in merito alle competenze dei professionisti sanitari su tematiche di etica e sull’utilizzo delle nuove tecnologie nell’assistenza sanitaria;
2. identificare i bisogni dei gruppi target;
3. ricercare e analizzare materiale già esistente e identificare eventuali gap da colmare;
4. elaborare i dati raccolti per la preparazione del materiale e-learning da far testare ai gruppi target;
5. adattare il materiale sviluppato anche dagli altri partner del progetto al contesto regionale e nazionale;
6. collaborare con gli altri partner del progetto, anche partecipando agli incontri di partenariato;
7. supportare la disseminazione dei risultati delle ricerche effettuate.

Di seguito una breve descrizione dei progetti interessati.

a) PROMOCON (PROmoting a MORal COnpetent Nurse)
Il progetto si propone dunque l’obiettivo di offrire una formazione a studenti, infermieri e formatori, che permetta lo sviluppo delle conoscenze e della pratica in ambito etico e morale, attraverso un approccio digitale. Inoltre, il progetto si propone la creazione di un Massive Open Online Course [MOOC], che includa un toolkit e una Good Practice Guide sull’argomento. In particolare, gli obiettivi specifici che i partner (Italia, Belgio, Cipro, Grecia, Finlandia, Irlanda) si propongono sono:
1. promuovere lo sviluppo di competenze morali attraverso un corso formativo in ambito etico;
2. migliorare la capacità di decision-making etico e il giudizio professionale degli infermieri;
3. porre attenzione alle sfide etiche e morali che emergono a livello mondiale e agli effetti a lungo termine, come distress e burnout;
4. sviluppare un profilo di un infermiere moralmente competente.

Pertanto, costituiscono i profili di attività prioritari del progetto:

a) sviluppare dei corsi e-learning che includa strumenti educativi appropriate ed innovativi per approfondire il concetto di competenza morale;
b) implementare il MOOC includendo dei gruppi target di infermieri;
c) scrivere una Good Practice Guide che aiuti gli infermieri e i professionisti della salute a erogare cure etiche per far fronte alle sfide quotidiane che le persone fragili richiedono.

b) CARE4HEALTH (Building the Healthcare Worker of Tomorrow)

Il progetto ha come obiettivo principale la promozione dell’interconnessione dei sistemi formativi a livello internazionale. Infatti, un rapporto del 2022 preparato dall’Organizzazione Mondiale della Sanità ha considerato la situazione della sanità in Europa come “una bomba a orologeria”, affermando in particolare che “tutti i Paesi affrontano gravi problemi legati alla salute e alla forza lavoro deputata all’assistenza sanitaria”. Per affrontare questi problemi, è chiaro che sono necessarie riforme serie sia a livello di sanità che a livello sociale, a partire dalla formazione universitaria. Il progetto si propone dunque l’obiettivo di offrire un corso e dei materiali didattici che implementino le conoscenze utili per lo sviluppo di competenze digitali e verdi, come la digitalizzazione, la sicurezza digitale, la salute ambientale e la valutazione dell’impatto del settore sanitario sull’ambiente. In particolare, gli obiettivi specifici che i partner (Italia, Slovenia, Spagna, Finlandia) si propongono sono:
1. rafforzare le competenze professionali, digitali e verdi dei formatori universitari e clinici, attraverso la loro formazione e lo scambio di competenze;
2. migliorare l’occupabilità degli studenti e l’identità professionale attraverso lo sviluppo e la sperimentazione di un corso congiunto e di materiali didattici e di apprendimento sulle sfide sanitarie contemporanee;
3. rendere l’istruzione superiore più interconnessa e inclusiva a livello locale ed europeo.

Text in English:
The fellowship takes place within the framework of two Erasmus projects, PROMOCON and CARE4HEALTH, for which the fellow will have to:
1. conduct an in-depth analysis of the existing literature on the skills of healthcare professionals on ethical issues and the use of new technologies in healthcare;
2. identify the needs of the target groups;
3. research and analyse existing material and identify any gaps to be filled;
4. process the collected data for the preparation of e-learning material to be tested by the target groups;
5. adapt the material developed by the other project partners to the regional and national context;
6. collaborate with the other project partners, also by participating in partnership meetings;
7. support the dissemination of research results.

Below is a brief description of the projects involved.

a) PROMOCON (PROmoting a MOral COmpetent Nurse)
The project addresses two important issues in the healthcare sector. Nurses rarely receive structured training in ethics and this does not allow them to be prepared to make complex ethical decisions. Furthermore, the recent COVID-19 pandemic has forced healthcare professionals to review their priorities due to limited resources, making some choices difficult.

The project therefore aims to offer training to students, nurses and trainers, which allows the development of knowledge and practice in the ethical and moral field, through a digital approach. Furthermore, the project aims to create a Massive Open Online Course [MOOC], which includes a toolkit and a Good Practice Guide on the topic. In particular, the specific objectives that the partners (Italy, Belgium, Cyprus, Greece, Finland, Ireland) propose are:

1. to promote the development of moral skills through a training course in ethics;
2. to improve nurses’ ethical decision-making capacity and professional judgment;
3. to pay attention to the ethical and moral challenges emerging globally and the long-term effects, such as distress and burnout;
4. to develop a profile of a morally competent nurse.

Therefore, the priority activity profiles of the project are:

a) to develop e-learning courses that include appropriate and innovative educational tools to deepen the concept of moral competence;
b) to implement the MOOC including target groups of nurses;
c) to write a Good Practice Guide that helps nurses and health professionals provide ethical care to meet the daily challenges that fragile people require.

b) CARE4HEALTH (Building the Healthcare Worker of Tomorrow)

The project has as its main objective the promotion of the interconnection of training systems at an international level. Indeed, a 2022 report prepared by the World Health Organization considered the healthcare situation in Europe as "ticking time bomb", stating in particular that "all countries of the region face severe problems related to their health and care workforce". To address these problems, it is clear that serious reforms are needed at both a healthcare and social level, starting with university education. The project therefore aims to offer a course and teaching materials that implement useful knowledge for the development of digital and green skills, such as digitalisation, digital security, environmental health and health sector impact assessment on the environment. In particular, the specific objectives that the partners (Italy, Slovenia, Spain, Finland) propose are:

1. to strengthen the professional, digital and green skills of university and clinical trainers, through their training and exchange of skills;
2. to enhance students’ employability and professional identity through the development and testing of a joint course and teaching and learning materials on contemporary health challenges;
3. to make higher education more interconnected and inclusive at local and European level.

Therefore, the priority activity profiles of the project are:

a) to develop an intensive course and exchange of skills between experts;
b) to implement the course with a digital component for nursing students;
c) to create international events to share the results of the project.
