Testo in italiano:
Questo progetto indaga le pratiche di conservazione, consumo ed esposizione del patrimonio culturale materiale dei principali conflitti del XX secolo nella terra di confine tra Italia, Austria e Slovenia. Il progetto si articola in due componenti. 1) Una componente di ricerca, volta a collocare il caso di studio nel più ampio contesto degli studi internazionali sul patrimonio culturale bellico e nella mappatura del patrimonio culturale nelle terre di confine. 2) Una componente di valorizzazione, volta a proporre un modello per lo sviluppo di un turismo del patrimonio sostenibile nella regione oggetto di studio.

Il progetto si articola in tre azioni principali. L'obiettivo della prima azione è quello di produrre un'indagine sul patrimonio culturale collegato alla guerra e sulle best practices in Europa. La seconda azione è il cuore del progetto di ricerca e mira a mappare i siti della memoria nella regione di confine. Questa tappa è articolata in due momenti. Il primo è la mappatura stessa di tutti i siti della memoria, che saranno classificati in un database creato su misura in base al loro contesto storico, alla natura e alla funzione, all'accessibilità e alla rilevanza. La raccolta dei dati sarà condotta con una pluralità di fonti quali siti web, materiale promozionale, guide tematiche, interviste e un invito aperto pubblicato sul giornale locale. Il secondo momento è funzionale a comprendere le pratiche di conservazione, consumo ed esposizione di questi siti. La terza azione si basa sulle prime due per fornire ai soggetti interessati ai siti del patrimonio culturale della regione di confine strumenti per una gestione sostenibile e rispettosa dei luoghi della memoria. In questa azione mira anche a sviluppare un modello innovativo di turismo del patrimonio che affermi la regione come destinazione chiave per i turisti e gli studenti che desiderano esplorare la storia dei conflitti del XX secolo.

The project has two components. 1) A research component, aiming at situating the case study in the wider context of international cultural heritage of war studies and in mapping cultural heritage in the borderland. 2) An enhancement component, aiming at proposing a model for the development of sustainable heritage tourism in the region under investigation. The project is articulated in three main milestones.

The goal of the first milestone is to produce a survey of cultural heritage of war studies and best practices across Europe. The second milestone is the core of the research project and aims at mapping sites of memory in the borderland region. This milestone also has two actions. The first action is the mapping itself of all sites of memory, which will be classified in a tailored-made database according to their historical context, nature and function, accessibility and relevance. Data gathering will be conducted with a plurality of sources such as websites, promotional material, thematic guide books, interviews and an open call published in the local newspaper. The second action aims at understanding practices of preservation, consumption and exhibition of these sites. The third milestone builds on the first two to provide stakeholders of cultural heritage sites in the borderland region instruments for a sustainable and respectful management of sites of memory. In doing so, this milestone also aims at developing an innovative model of heritage tourism which establishes the region as a key destination for tourists and students wishing to explore the history of twentieth century conflicts.
