Research grant funded by the resources of the project PRIN 2022 - Prot. n. 2022JLFMN

Art. 1
A selection procedure is hereby launched for the award of 1 research grant at the University of Udine, as identified in Attachment A which constitutes an integral part of the present announcement. The research grant is linked to the research project and is subject and conditioned upon the relative funding.

The fellowship may be renewed, in compliance with Art. 22, Law No. 240 of 30 December 2010 (as in the text in force before the implementation of the Conversion Law of the D.L. 36/2022, L. 79/2022), Law No. 11 of 27 February 2015, and the current regulations of the University of Udine for awarding research grants, issued with the Rector’s Decree No. 182 of 31 March 2021. The renewal is subject to the scientific coordinator’s positive assessment of the researcher’s activities, an adequate scientific rationale, and a corresponding financial covering.

The research fellowship does not give rise to any right with regards to accessing University posts.

Any personal communication to candidates related to this selection will be sent exclusively to the email address indicated when registering for the selection, as mentioned in Art. 5.

Art. 2
The research grant described in this competition announcement and the required qualifications to apply for the position are identified in Attachment A. The lack of the admission requirements leads to the automatic exclusion from the competition procedure.
Possession of a PhD or equivalent degree obtained abroad or, only for the interested areas, of a medical specialization accompanied by an adequate scientific production, constitutes a preferential qualification for awarding the research fellowship of this selection, if it has not been provided as a mandatory requirement.

For the only purpose of the admission to the competition, the Examining Board (Art. 7) shall assess the equivalence of the qualification obtained abroad, except for the evaluation of the medical specialization qualification to which Article 38 of the Legislative Decree 165/2001 and subsequent modifications and additions, and EU regulations on the matter, shall be applied.

The Examining Board will proceed to the evaluation of the qualification obtained abroad according to the documentation attached to the application form. The Examining Board may exclude the candidate if the submitted documentation does not provide sufficient information for the assessment.

Therefore, applicants must enclose all the documentation in their possession relating to their qualification in order to provide the Examining Board with sufficient information for assessment.

Candidates holding a qualification issued by a European Research Area country, if successful, must submit, if not already attached to the application form one of the following options:

- Supplement Diploma in English issued by the competent University.
- CIMEA Certificate of comparability of the foreign qualification, issued by CIMEA (Information Centre on Academic Mobility and Equivalence) via the “diplome” service at https://cimea.diplo-me.eu/udine/#/auth/login

Candidates holding a qualification issued by a non-European Research Area country, if successful, must submit, if not already attached to the application form one of the following options:

- Declaration of the on-site value of the qualification and the certificate relating to the degree with examinations and grades. A certificate in a language other than Italian or English must be accompanied by an official translation into one of these languages (certified by the competent diplomatic-consular authority or certified by a court in Italy).
- CIMEA Certificate of comparability of the foreign qualification, issued by CIMEA (Information Centre on Academic Mobility and Equivalence) via the “diplome” service at https://cimea.diplo-me.eu/udine/#/auth/login

If the Supplement Diploma or the statement/attestation of comparability are not available when signing the contract, the applicant must demonstrate that he/she has requested the documentation and submit it as soon as possible.

Any exclusion from the selection procedure due to lack of eligibility requirements, absence of required documents, failure to sign the selection application or submission of the selection application in a manner different from what is provided for in this call for applications will be communicated to applicants exclusively at the email address indicated in the application form.

Testo in italiano:
Nell’ambito del Prin 2022, dal titolo “Diversamente mendicanti. Povertà volontaria e mendicanza tra ispirazione religiosa e realtà istituzionali / Unconventionally mendicant. Voluntary poverty and mendicancy between religious inspiration and institutions Prot. 2022/LFMMNL”, la zona di competenza territoriale dell’unità udinese è l’attuale ‘Friuli’, che fu il principale nucleo di potere signorile del patriarcato di Aquileia e comprendeva o interferiva con larga parte della diocesi di Concordia (Pordenone) e di Trieste. Si tratta di un territorio caratterizzato da centri urbani di grandezza modesta e da un popolamento ridotto. In parallelo, ancora per i secoli bassomedievali, permaneva una forte autorità politica dei patriarchi, unita a una apprezzabile efficienza dell’organizzazione diocesana secolare. Le ricerche sinora condotte hanno mostrato un’espansione limitata delle presenze dei frati qualificabili come ‘mendicanti’, nel Duecento-Trecento, se si eccettua l’insediamento dei Minori e dei Predicatori. Solo sul finire del Trecento si radicheranno nei nuclei urbani principali (e soprattutto a Udine) gli Eremiti di sant’Agostino e, nel secolo successivo, i Servi di Maria e i Carmelitani. La condizione del Friuli, in stretta contiguità territoriale con l’area veneta e in comparazione con la realtà italiana, può pertanto fornire un interessante punto di vista per verificare l’efficienza delle interpretazioni che normalmente abbinano le presenze ‘mendicanti’ agli assetti sociali e istituzionali/politici, oltre che religiosi ed ecclesiastici, delle realtà che ne videro il radicamento e la diffusione. In particolare il Friuli sembra brillare per l’assenza di ‘creatività’ istituzionale, ben attestata invece nel vicino Veneto, correlata con la mancanza o la modestia di esperienze religiose individuali o collettive sganciate da istituzioni già formate o in via di espansione. Sono, ad esempio, assenti domus di Umiliati o di altre congregazioni o gruppi che hanno qualificato, anche nella contigua Marca
Trevigiana, un panorama ricco di novitates religiose, al punto da sollecitare le preoccupazioni papali per gli eccessi della religionum diversitas. Tale peculiarità, per la maggior parte degli studi locali, è parsu giustificare una sorta di eccezione e di autoreferenzialità esplicativa, ma impone piuttosto di adire a un confronto positivo con realtà contemoranei e affini e l’inserimento in un insieme istituzionale e normativo ancora più vasto. A partire da questo apparente dato di fatto, che di per sé merita una spiegazione forse più articolata della semplice considerazione sulla debole articolazione della società locale e sulla sua limitata vivacità economica, l’unità locale udinese si propone di riconsiderare un censimento delle presenze religiose riconducibili a ispirazioni di natura “mendicante”, includendovi elementi dispersi di tipo “eremitico” o di genere femminile, applicando a tali presenze – se possibile – un questionario volto a individuarne l’eventuale natura pauperistico/mendicante. Per quanto impreciso e indirizzato nelle intenzioni a segnalare realtà di tipo bendettino/tradizionale, può rivelarsi utile il quadro offerto a suo tempo dal censimento di Pietro Zovatto (Il monachesimo bendettino del Friuli, Quarto d’Altino, Ve 1977), che impone una verifica attenta soprattutto delle manifestazioni istituzionali dei gruppi femminili, ubicati tanto nei centri ‘cittadini’ (Cividale, Gemona, Udine…), quanto nel territorio diocesano, in corrispondenza di nuclei castellani o lungo le principali vie di comunicazione. Lo sguardo, attraverso l’analisi di un’ampia tipologia di documentazione, che non prescinde dall’analisi delle fonti notarili (testamenti, in particolare), sarà puntato anche a una ricalibratura problematica delle strutture socio-economiche e istituzionali della società e delle chiese locali, per verificare la compatibilità con i fenomeni “mendicanti”. Sarà in ogni caso necessario unire le considerazioni puntuali emergenti per la realtà friulana con un orizzonte esplicativo che tenga opportunamente presenti gli orientamenti, anche normativi, della Chiesa romana (aspetto non sempre evidente negli studi locali già compiuti) e comparare continuamente gli esiti dell’indagine con quelli delle altre unità e con la storiorigrafia esistente, soprattutto per l’Italia. L’assegno di ricerca dell’unità udinese, in piena sintonia operativa con gli altri due gruppi di ricerca, provvederà, attraverso la rilettura delle pubblicazioni, al censimento delle presenze religiose sorte con ispirazione mendicante, dando spazio anche a un’analisi delle sopravvivenze architettoniche (estesa, a campione, ad altre parti del territorio indagato e comparative con casi di livello nazionale). Scavi archivistici saranno condotti nei fondi notarili di Udine, Gemona, Cividale, Pordenone, Trieste, e nei fondi degli enti religiosi soppressi, sparsi tra istituzioni statali e comunali. Spetterà infine specificamente all’unità udinese l’elaborazione di una mappa interattiva georeferenziata (GIS) – elaborata da personale ad essa specificamente dedicato – che consenta, a scale diverse sia in generale sia per i singoli territori, di mostrare, in progressione diacronica ma anche per tagli sincronicici la presenza delle diverse esperienze religiose, considerate nel loro insieme, la distribuzione negli ambiti territoriali e nei contesti urbani, con riferimento a cartografie sia storiche sia attuali. Tale strumento sarà realizzato con i dati emersi dalle indagini di tutte e tre le unità del progetto.

Text in English:
The Udine unit (“Diversamente mendicanti. Povertà volontaria e mendicanza tra ispirazione religiosa e realtà istituzionali / Unconventionally mendicant. Voluntary poverty and mendicancy between religious inspiration and institutions Prot. 2022JLFMNL”) is responsible for the area of present-day Friuli. This was the realm of the patriarchate of Aquileia and included (or interfered) with a large part of the diocese of Concordia (Pordenone) and Trieste. This territory was characterized by modestly sized urban centers with relatively small populations. A robust patriarchate authority remained until the late Middle Ages. This governance was combined with a palpable and effective secular diocese organization. Research has shown a limited expansion of friars that can qualify as ‘mendicants’ in the 13th-14th centuries, except for the larger settlements of Minors and Preachers. Only near the end of the 14th century would other groups settle into the main urban centers (especially Udine), like the Hermits of Saint Augustine and, in the 15th century, the Servites and Carmelites. Because Friuli is contiguous to the region of Veneto and is useful for comparison with other Italian contexts, it proves interesting as a case study to verify the efficiency of the interpretations that often connect the ‘mendicant’ presence to the social, institutional, political structures, as well as the religious and ecclesiastic realities of the contexts that experienced entrenchment and expansion. In contrast to nearby Veneto, Friuli stands out for its absence of institutional ‘creativity’. Indeed, this is correlated with the modesty or lack of individual or collective religious experiences, detached from already established or expanding institutions. For example, the domus of the Humiliati is noticeably absent, along with other congregations and groups that contributed to a rich religious novitiate in the neighboring Marca Trevigiana (to such an extent that their excess of religionum diversitas worried papal authorities). Most local studies see this peculiarity as an exception or self-explanatory. However, analysis requires that it be compared with neighboring, similar contexts and inserted within a broader institutional and normative panorama. Beginning from this apparent situational fact – itself deserving a more thorough examination than the simple consideration of weak local organization and limited economic conditions –, the Udine unit will reconsider the census of religious presences in the area with ‘mendicant’ leanings, including scattered ‘hermitic’ elements and female communities. The until will apply a questionnaire to identify the eventual pauperistic/mendicant nature of these groups. Although it is imprecise and originally intended to identify Benedictine/traditional contexts, the census made by Pietro Zovatto may prove helpful in the unit’s research (Il monachesimo benedettino del Friuli, Quarto d’Altino, Ve 1977). The unit’s work requires a careful examination of the institutional manifestations of female groups located in ‘city’ centers (Cividale, Gemona, Udine...) and within the diocese territory in correspondence to the groups found in castles or along the main travel routes. This analysis will consider a broad typology of documentation, including notarial sources (mainly testaments). In addition, it will also examine the socio-economic and institutional structures of local society and churches to verify their compatibility with the ‘mendicant’ phenomenon. It will be necessary to combine the specific considerations that emerge from the Friuli context with an explicative horizon that includes the orientations (normative and otherwise) of the Roman Church – these features are not always found in the local studies – and to continuously compare the research outcomes with the other units and existing historiography, especially that of Italy. The Udine unit, in full operational harmony with the other two research groups, will take a census of the religious presences that have arisen with mendicant inspiration, through the re-reading of publications, and will also analyse the architectural survivals (extended, on a sample basis, to other parts of the investigated territory and compared with cases at a national level). Archival excavations will be conducted in the notarial fonds of Udine, Gemona, Cividale, Pordenone and Trieste, and in the fonds of suppressed religious institutions, scattered among state and municipal institutions. Finally, the Udine unit will be specifically responsible for the elaboration of a georeferenced interactive map (GIS) - elaborated by staff specifically dedicated to it - that allows, at different scales both in general and for individual territories, to show, in diachronic progression but also by synchronous cuts the presence of the different religious experiences, considered as a whole, the distribution in territorial ambits and urban contexts, with reference to both historical and current cartographies. This tool will be realised with the data that emerged from the surveys of all three project units.
